

How providing development opportunities can better prepare your emerging talent

As a manager, you have a responsibility to ensure your emerging talent is prepared to take on a management role. This can be done by providing them with development opportunities that will help them to build the skills and experience they need to succeed.

Be clear when delegating tasks.	It's important to be clear when delegating tasks to your emerging talent. This means providing them with a clear understanding of what you expect of them, and the resources they will need to complete the task. Delegation is a key skill for managers, and it's essential to ensure your team is clear on their responsibilities. What can help: Delegation, Leadership, Management, Teamwork
Develop your leadership style.	Developing your leadership style is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding your own strengths and weaknesses, and how you can use them to lead your team effectively. Leadership is a complex skill, and it's essential to have a clear understanding of your own style. What can help: Leadership, Management
Strengthen your presentation skills.	Strengthening your presentation skills is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means being able to communicate your ideas clearly and effectively, and being able to persuade others to support your vision. Presentation skills are essential for managers, and it's important to have a strong understanding of your own style. What can help: Delegation, Leadership, Management, Communication
Be prepared when leading teams.	Being prepared when leading teams is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding the challenges of leading a team, and being able to anticipate and address them. Leading a team is a complex task, and it's essential to have a clear understanding of your own style. What can help: Communication
Build your confidence before leading a management task.	Building your confidence before leading a management task is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding your own strengths and weaknesses, and being able to use them to your advantage. Confidence is essential for managers, and it's important to have a strong understanding of your own style. What can help: Leadership
Be better prepared for taking on a management role.	Being better prepared for taking on a management role is a key part of preparing your emerging talent for a management role. This means understanding the challenges of a management role, and being able to anticipate and address them. A management role is a complex task, and it's essential to have a clear understanding of your own style. What can help: Delegation, Leadership, Management, Teamwork, Communication

